Environmental tips in the right places - Sponda Oyj, WWF's Green Office example 2013

Sponda provides a communications kit for its office tenants to help them guide their staff to make environmentally friendly choices while at work. The stickers and door handle hangers remind the users of the premises to switch off the lights when leaving, to save water and to use double-sided printing and copying whenever possible.

The stickers and door handle hangers can easily be placed wherever they are needed, for example, on the door handles of meeting rooms, next to a tap or a copy machine or printer. Several of these stickers and hangers containing useful tips are also used at Sponda's own premises to guide Sponda's staff to make small but significant daily contributions to protecting our environment.
